Buds are developed so that plants are ready for immediate sales or within a few days after benching in a warm, bright greenhouse environment. It is not unusual if some of the small buds drop in transit. A week of acclimation will help ensure that any bud drop that occurs is in your greenhouse, and not at your customer's. There may also be some leaf yellowing. It is important to unpack immediately upon receipt to prevent excessive bud drop and leaf yellowing. Refer to the Tradewinds® Hibiscus technical guide for complete handling information.

About the Series

Sun Parasol® Mandevilla Giant Group

Sun Parasol® Giant Series offers gorgeous premium mandevilla varieties that produce large flowers spanning up to 5" Natural climbers, these beauties are perfect on trellises or obelisk in 5-12" patio pots. The Giant varieties are the most heat tolerant with superb disease resistant, while the flowering season is slightly later than the Original series. Cultivation period 3-12 months.

Sun Parasol® Mandevilla Original Group

The Original Sun Parasols® have superb garden performance and disease resistance. Flowers are 2-3" and come in a wide color range, plus their bushy habit is suitable for 4-12" patio containers, hanging baskets, balconies, and bedding. With dark green, glossy foliage and good branching, you can train the vines to a trellis or support, too! Cultivation period is 3-12 months.

NEW! Sun Parasol® Mandevilla Original XP Group

Sun Parasol® Original XP Series features breeding breakthroughs that have superior branching and flower power! Earlier to flower with exciting, never-before-seen colors like the first yellow flower Sunbeam; the new Bluephoria™ with blue flowers starting with pink buds; the new Mauvelous with brush stroke color of mauve pink blooms. All are show-stopping plants for gardens, containers, and hanging baskets.

Sun Parasol® Pretty Group

Sun Parasol® Pretty varieties combine the best of dipladenia characteristics with mandevilla growth. Flower size is the same as the Original group, but the foliage is glossy, thinner and more vining. Plants are natural climbers and suitable for baskets, trellises, and balconies. Pretty varieties are also more cold tolerant than other dipladenia types.

Sundenia® Dipladenia Group

Sundenia® dipladenias offer the large flowers loved in mandevillas but on a compact, manageable plant. Flowers are 3-5" in diameter, double the size of a typical dipladenia, all on glossy green foliage. With superior branching and disease resistance, Sundenia® is perfect for pots and hanging baskets. New Red Improved has been improved for a fuller, bushy habit, loaded with larger red blooms all season long.
